Commander Art Parks, of Veterans of Foreign Wars Post 8181 here, has been awarded through a bulletin this week from V.F.W. headquarters that the Belle Glade post has been chosen as one of eleven posts in Florida to be named to the All Florida Team.

The bulletin also announced that post 8181 is among those units having attained 100% of 1946 membership for this year as of December 31, 1946.

State Representative Emmett S. Roberts or Luther Jones, Herald Publisher, are expected to represent Parks at the awards dinner.

Parks also reported that the M-34 tank, a WWII relic which has decorated the Everglades American Legion Post 20 lawn for nearly four years has been sold for scrap to F. G. Barnett, a Miami scrap metal dealer.

The tank, which has been the property of the Belle Glade V.F.W. since it was won in a drawing at Palm Beach Air Force Base, weighed approximately 68,000 pounds and brought one cent per pound.

The tank, originally intended to become a monument, was useless as a vehicle since it could not be driven on the mud because of its weight.

The M-34 style tank was used by numerous tank units during the war; however, the tank which came to Belle Glade was one of several war-surplus items given away through the air base.

Your Library

How helpful are libraries? Every citizen should have deep interest in public libraries because they do so much to increase the mental capital of people of all ages.

These are the ways a library can be of value to a community: 1 — It enables a reader to build on the education he has received in school. 2 — It helps a person improve his knowledge and participate with others in a better position. 3 — It offers citizens information needed to vote intelligently and participate effectively in a community. 4 — It can help the individual discharge other responsibilities which he has for himself as a member of a church or a parent. 5 — It provides reading for entertainment.

Our librarian has chosen three interesting novels this week which she is sure you will find good reading material. A novel of Henry V of England. It begins with his boyhood and his father's exile, making clear the wild prince Hal of Shakespeare and the young king's determination to win back the lost French land as well as his love for Lady Katherine of France. There are moments of romantic excitement, battles where weary and half-slept men defeat five times their number.

Buffalo Grass by Frank Gruber is a historical novel of substance and importance against the back ground of violence and adventure that was Kansas in the years immediately following the civil war. A story of a Kansas cattle town by two Civil War veterans.

Tolbecken by Samuel Sheabarger is a pleasant, warm fantasy story in a rapidly growing Delaware town in the years between the turn of the century and World War I. Jared Tolbecken, the proud young son of the family, loves and loses a charming French girl who visits this country, but is reunited with her in France.

QUANTITY AND QUALITY

More than two hundred years ago Thomas Fuller remarked that to sell cheaply means that either quality or service must be cut — usually both. Of course, this principle was laid down before mass production and its partner, mass distribution, existed. And these two forces have changed matters enormously. Another statement by the same man however is completely true today as it was then: "A fair profit must be made or one does not last long."

The modern retailer, chain and independent, has brought down prices by trading in greater volume. By this means goods can be sold cheaper and still be made. By the same money, the standard of service can remain excellent and a "fair profit" can be made. Thomas Fuller and the retailers of his day would have considered the percentage of profit earned under modern merchandising methods fantastically small.

Mass merchandising has out-moded the old theory that in order to sell cheaper, quality or service must be cut.

ACT BEFORE IT'S TOO LATE

The National Board of Fire Underwriters, with the full support of local insurance agents, throughout the country, has been carrying on a campaign urging people to review the extent of their insurance coverage and to make the proper adjustment when underinsurance is discovered. The personal economic interest of the insurance business and the agents in such undertaking is obvious. But this is one of those happy situations where the campaign to save the economic interest of everyone with a home or other kinds of property subject to destruction by fire and related hazards.

Most of us are underinsured — and for a reason that can largely be covered in a single word: inflation. Roughly speaking, the cost of just about everything in common use, homes, included, has doubled since the end of World War II. Also, we have made material additions to our possessions like TV sets and appliances, and to make the proper adjustment.

The National Underwriter magazine has been printing actual examples of losses to policy holders resulting from underinsurance. A widow in Ohio sustained a $2,141 loss on household goods and had only $1,500 of insurance, so the difference of $641 came out of her pocket. A mercantile building in Maryland had a loss of $178,956 as against insurance coverage of $127,500 — the insured thus lost $51,456. A home in Rhode Island sustained a loss of $15,812, and there was but $7,000 of insurance — so the owner had to produce $8,812.

In most cases, our insurance coverage has not kept pace with the increase in values or prices, or with our expanding list of personal possessions. The wise property owner will take the hint — and see his local agent before it's too late.

According to the petty officer in charge of the West Palm Beach recruiting office, one of the top music schools in the nation now has a few vacancies for qualified musicians. Young men who consider themselves qualified should contact Chief Werner at the West Palm Beach Navy recruiting office as soon as possible, or call Temple 2-2296 for information.

Dr. Richard Deitch, basic principles which should be applied in landscaping a home, stressing that the final result should give "maximum satisfaction" to those who are to use the landscaped space.

He said that beauty in landscaping can be attained by applying such artistic elements as line, form, texture, pattern and color, always remembering the need for overall unity and simplicity of composition.

GARDEN CLUB

Florida Poultry Products Valued At $34 Million

Florida-produced eggs, chickens, broilers and turkeys valued by the state last year were valued at $34,937,000.

This figure, including both sales and farm consumption, was 18 per cent above the revised 1955 figure. Nationally there was no change in gross poultry receipts, the Florida State Chamber of Commerce reported yesterday.

The Florida market for both poultry and meat and eggs outstrips production, although the gap has been narrowing in recent years. Last year's estimate showed consumption in Florida of broilers and chickens as 43 per cent above production; 45 per cent. Imports came principally from states having surplus flocks.

Poultry meat production, live weight, in Florida last year was set at $1,911,000 pounds in this week's business review of the State Chamber's research and industrial division. Broilers accounted for 35,490,000 pounds of this total, chickens for 12,890,000 pounds and turkeys for 3,531,000 pounds.

Florida poultrymen started the year with 3,770,000 hens and pullets and 27,000 turkeys. Eggs, 589 million of them, averaged 180 per hen, eleven more than the 1956 national average and up 22 per cent from the Florida 1955 figure.

A group of Boston businessmen staged a realistic re-enactment of the Boston Tea Party, in protest against high taxes and government spending. Tea chests labeled "waste," "big budget" and so on were thrown into the harbor.
